BETHESDA CEMETERY

The Bethesda Cemetery is west of Terre Haute, Vigo, Indiana three miles from the Wabash River Bridge on U.S.40, where you turn right (North) for two miles. The new section is on the west side of the road, while the old section is on the east side. These graves copied are of the oldest section, behind the church and down the hill, starting at the Malcom Moseleum.

Epitaph

Shed not for her the scalding tear
Nor give the heart to vain regrets,
'Tis but the casket that lies here
The gem that filled it sparkles,yet.

My Faith looks up to thee.

She faltered by the way and the angels carried her home.

OLD BRICK CHURCH CEMETERY- Fayette Township, Vigo County, Indiana
This cemetery was walked and recorded in 1924 by Opal Funkhouser , in 1980 by Virginia Wilhoit in 10-2010 by Calvin E. and Loretta G. Chrisman/Folsom.
Taken from paper's at Terre Haute Library:This cemetery is located north of Terre Haute, 1 mile north of New Goshen, Fayette Township, Vigo County, Indiana between Route 150 and Highway 63 - 1 mile west of Trinity and 1/2 mile south, on ~~Range Line Road~~ Rangeline Road at Wilhoit Avenuse.
It was one of the frist cemeteries in Fayette Township.
SW1/4 Section 6,T13N,R9W
It is to be noted that at one time there was a fence around the Hay lot's and all stones were alike. When Robert Strole started cleaning this cemetery off after years of neglect , they found a little iron gate that at one time was part of the fence- he repaired and replace it and then someone took it.
There were two church's at this site at diffent times- one of wood and the other of brick but these are long gone and no records of the membership has been found.
Found deed where this land was sold to the Church of the Brethren in Christ in 1859 for a meeting house and cemetery, by Henry Ryhan and Isaac Bolton and their wives though they were burying in this cemetery as early as 1851. Deed was not recorded until 1879.
Cemetery stones read right to left. This is the condition of the cemetery and stones as of 10-2010
